

Stanley Pauley Engineering Building – Matching Program

With the official opening of the new Stanley Pauley Engineering Building, University of Manitoba engineering students and faculty have a brand-new facility, housing graduate and undergraduate laboratories, faculty offices, and graduate student study space thanks to a transformational $5-million gift from Stanley and Dorothy Pauley. The 46,100-square-foot Stanley Pauley Engineering Building expands lab and student-support facilities across the Faculty of Engineering’s range of focus. At a cost of $28 million with $12.1 million coming from the federal government, $4 million from the province and the rest from donors (like you), the university has achieved more than 95% of its fundraising goal for this project.

The APEGM Foundation has a fundraising drive to support this Faculty of Engineering capital building project. To encourage donations towards this project, the APEGM Foundation is offering a donation matching program. The APEGM Foundation will provide matching funding, up to a maximum of $100 per donor, to a campaign maximum matching total of $25,000, for any individual or corporate donation made to the APEGM Foundation for this capital project fundraising drive. It is hoped that some donors will contribute more than the $100 matching amount, so that when the campaign ends September 30, 2019, the APEGM Foundation is able to contribute substantially more than $50,000 towards the University’s fundraising goal for the new Stanley Pauley Engineering Building campaign.
